five innings, and with their stock far ow par with the rooters, Richmond's Bluebirds climbed to victory yesterday and beat the Petersburg Farmers out by a score of 5 to 2 in a very prettily played

As hill-climbers, the Bluebirds haven't an equal. That old antiquated tug-horse who has jerked bob-tailed cars up the Ninth-street incline for many years isn't in it with them. The birdlings simply fly up the hill, and they find victory almost every time. The great beauty about the playing of Bake Wells's pets is that they are never Refeated until the last inning is over. They are unlike almost any other team in the State League in this respect, and gherein lies their superiority.

Yesterday the Farmers blanked them for five innings, and led them by two rune, but they played on, apparently un mindful of the fact that they were behind their competitors; McGowan poked fur at everybody, Jake Wells said nothing and things worked as smoothly as pos-sible, every man playing ball.

and twirled like a major. He had great speed, and made eight Farmers punch
"triplets" in the atmosphere, in addition to holding them down to three hits.
Fackard tossed for Petersburg, and, although he was in good form, he was not given the support which he was entitled to, and, as a consequence, became somewhat rattled toward the latter part of the game, and was fre by hit.

To Mr. Hall, who was released from the Richmond team, belongs the honor of having caused the defent of his associates,
the dropped two flies that fell mirectly in his hands and gave three runs to Richmond as a resuit. Lippert, who played in left meld, contributed somewhat to Richmond's victory by letting two flies go through him, but only one of them was productive of any disastrous result, and the game had already been lost.

The locals got off in the third iming,
and although but one error was made there was a general looseness about their playing—just for that one inning—which was largely instrumental in accumulating the two runs that Petersburg made.

THE FARMERS SCORE.

THE FARMERS SCORE.

THE FARMERS SCORE.

Fiynn started off with a bad piece of fielding. He threw wild to Berte, and gave Lyons second base, letting Packard reach first. Then he gathered himself together and struck Gill out. McClung followed with a single, but in the meantime Lyons had scored on a wild pitch, and McClung's hit brought Packard in, making the score 2 to 0 against Richmond. Everybody knew that this wouldn't do, but the opportunity for changing things was slow in presenting itself. It came though, as all things do, but not until the sixth inning.

Two men were out when Packard lost is grip and gave Grove's his base. He bllowed this up with a similar presentation to Tannehill, which shoved Turke second. He hit Houseman, the nex an up, which gave that worthy his base sus filling the corners. Then it was that matters grew exciting

Wells was the batter, and everything of pended upon him. He batted a high fly into Hall's territory, and a groan went up from all the two thousand or more spectators. Hall reached for it, and—dropped it. Then there was a howl-Groves and Tannehill crossed the plate Houseman went to third, Wells to second, and-best of all—the score was tied. Fos-ter retired the side before any one else scored, and the Farmers got their inning It netted them naught, and all of the other innings thereafter resulted in a like manner.

M'GOWAN'S THEFT.

In the seventh McGowan committee base, but actually stole home, and that, too, when five of the Petersburgs were hasing him. The steal was probably the brettlest piece of base-running that has been done this season.

McClung caught Mc. off of third, and there was nothing for him to do but run. Pender. Packard, Lyons, McClung, and Bullivan got around him, and they ran him to and fro for some time. Finally, him to and fro for some time, Finally the wily third-baseman saw an opening when Pender reached up to catch the sphere, and before Petersburg's captain could lower his hands sufficiently to touch him McGowan slipped under h and like lightning sped over the

Portsmouth was literally cleaned up at the base-ball park this afternoon, by a score of 19 to 8. It must be said in esnLunsford, c...

tor, however, that there was little glory | Leonard, s. s ..

in the victory, for of all the Chinese ball that has been seen here this season the Portsmouth Marines played it. Their pitchers were wild, and were easy fruit for the Hill City stuggers. Their fielders were off in their work, even Pop Tate muffing balls, and their batting was exceedingly weak. The Tobacconists went in to play a fast game, but soon saw that they would have no opportunity to do so with such opposition, and the game lagged wearily along until nearly dark, the home team continually piling up runs. Hallman, who pitched a beautiful game here Thursday, was first in the box to-day for Portsmouth. He was wild and was batted freely. In the fifth inning Team, a new pitcher, was substituted, but fared little better than his predecessor. THESE MUFFS NET THREE RUNS.

DIVIDED HONORS.

One Came Each for Norfolk and

Bonnoke. NORFOLK, VA., May 18-(Special.)-Norfolk and Roanoke split even to-day, the former winning the first game, with McDonald and Breen, the opposing plichers, and losing the last, with Mc-Creary and Lloyd opposed to each other. This division of honors is nothing new, owever, to the local patrons, who saw it made in every instance in which the "Clams" or "Oysters," or whatever other name may be applied to them, had two games in one day last season. The first contest was decidedly the more interest-ing. This is a fact for two reasons—it was a better-played game, and the locals

Breen, Roanoke's short-stop, pitched, and dld fairly well, only eleven hits be-lag made off him. In the fourth inning he weakened a little, and five runs were banged out. After that his men were never in the game. McDonald pitched a steady game, and won by his keeping his opponents' hits scattered. The all-round work of McCann, Corcoran, and Padden, and the batting of Corcoran and Padden were the features. The score: NORFOLK. McDonald, p.

SHUT THE CAROLINIANS OUT.

Virginia's "Varsity" Boys Play a Chiengo Game in Old North State. GREENSBORO, N. C., May 18 .- (Spedal.)-The first game of base-ball played off of Virginia soil between the University of North Carolina and the University of Virginia resulted in a shut-out for the Carolina team. The game was gilt-edged up to the fourth inning, when, with two men out, and the bases full, Collier got an easy chance to make a put-out at first. He lost his head, however, and threw home to Bailey, who dropped the ball, and permitted a Virginian to score. The Carolina battery thereupon went to pieces, and the game became slow and tedious to the 800 spectators present.

North Carolina frequently got runners on second and third, with one or two men out, but failed to get the necessary men out, but failed to get the necessary hit to score the run, as Nelson pitched a good, heady game, and kept the hits well scattered.

Collier pitched a rather erratic game, being decidedly wild, and keeping Balley on the jump; but his speed was terrific and his delivery decidedly puzzling to the Virginia batters, who were fortunate in bunching their hits as well as getting them just at the right time.

The nearest Carolina came to scoring was when Graham hit to right and completed the circuit of the bases on an error pleted the circuit of the bases on an error made by Neely, who let a difficult-thrown ball go by him. Graham was, however, sent back to second, despite the howlings of the rooters, under the ground rule, which allowed only one base on a hell thrown to the cond n a ball thrown in the crowd.

OF A HIGH ORDER

The Racing at Gravesend Yesterday Thus Described.

BETTING ON THE CREDIT PLAN.

Bookmakers Trying to Adjust Them. selves to the New Anti-Gambling Law in New York-Old Dominion

GRAVESEND RACE-TRACK, May 18 .-The racing here to-day was of a high order. The finishes were close and exciting in nearly every instance. There was plen betting, but it was all done on the credit-plan. Robert Pinker ton made a speech before the racing began, in which he told the players and takers of odds that he had detailed men who would at once arrest any person caught paying or receiving money, post ing odds, or issuing receipts. This made it utterly impossible for persons not known to the bookmakers to make a bet meeting, at which they will try to agree upon some plan under which they can conduct business without violating the racing-laws. The system of betting, coupled with the cold, threatening weather, kept the attendance down to the smallest figure ever known on a Saturday at Gravesend. A rumor was started that the meeting would be declared off. This was denied most emphatically by President Daly. There were about 3,500 people present. The sport began with a victory for the talent. Ajax, their candidate, made all the running, and won by a scant head from Long Beach. Langdon furnished a big surprise by winning the second race quite cleverly from Paladin. Applegate furnished another rebuff for the faithful in the Hudson Stakes. He won the race pretty much as he pleased. Count Tenor galloped his field literally off their feet in the Carlton Stakes. ANOTHER LETTER ON ANNEXATION ment Advanced by Mr. Weisiger. Here is another contribution to the RICHMOND, VA., May 17th.

Mr. B. B. Welsiger:

Dear Sir,—While I do not feel called upon by anything that has occurred to continue a public discussion of the annexation scheme, I always consider it proper to answer any gentleman who addresses me politely, whether publicly or privately. The attempt to show that I had misrepresented the finances of your city having resulted in a most disastrous failure, you now intimate that I have misrepresented the fact concerning your lights, water supply, and streets, although not wilfully. I have not misrepresented them wilfully or otherwise. I did not say that your streets were not lighted by electricity. I knew well that they were, for I see your lights every night, and see them with pleasure. I said that your houses were lighted by oil or candles, which you say is true. As to the lights, then, I have not misrepresented the facts. Mr. B. B. Weisiger:

As to the lights, then, I have not mis-represented the facts.

As to water, I did say that you were furnished with water by a stand-pump.

I do not understand you to deny it; but you say that it is a very tall one, which can be seen from my residence. I did not say that it was a short one. I admit that it is very tall and that it he late. that it is very tall, and that it is plain-ly visible from my residence; but I do not see how I have misrepresented you in this particular.

in this particular.

As to the streets, you say that yours are not much worse than ours. This is a matter concerning which honest and truthful men may well differ in opinion. I am tolerably familiar with your streets. In my judgment, none of them are good. Richmond has many miles of excellent streets; many miles of bad streets, and many miles of streets that are in a most sheeking condition. No one has more earnestly worked for their improvement than the writer of this letter. But we do not have bad streets because we like them. It is because we have not the money to make them better. The fact that we have not money enough to improve our own streets is a powerful reaprove our own streets is a powerful reater, I call your attention to the follow ing facts:

By the last census Richmond had aboue eight times the population of Manches ter; but her assessed values of real an personal property were $5,900,000, to Manchester's $1,900,000. In round numbers—that is to say, our assessed values were twenty times as great as those of your city. Our evenues are twenty times greater. Your per capita of wealth is about $300, our business is probable one hundred times greater. Your rat of taxation is $1.60; our is $2.40. If Richmond has managed her finances badly she has ample resources upon which t the has ample resources upon which to fall back. But I desire to say, once for all, that I do not intend to be drawn into a discussion of Richmond's finances, at the re-quest of any individual. If the Cham-per of Commerce were to call on me, or any other manner an occasion should arise which should make it my duty to riticise them, I should endeavor to discriticise them, I should endeavor to dis-charge it as honestly and fearlessly as I have criticised the finances of your city. If you really wish information on the subject, you are entitled to get it from the city authorities.

I do not know that it is a matter of importance in this discussion, but your figures concerning Manchester's increase of population from 1873 to 1890 are amaz-ing. I was in the Legislature in the win-ter of 1873-74, when Judge Clopton pre-sented the bill for your incorporation as a city, under section 14, article 6. Constiter of 18.3-4, when Judge Cropton presented the bill for your incorporation as a city, under section 14, article 6, Constitution of Virginia. In order that you might be incorporated as a city under our Constitution you were obliged to show that your population numbered as much as 5,000. It was proved to the satisfaction of the Legislature that you had 5,000 people, and we passed the bill. It your population quadrupled by 1830 you would have had 20,000 people. The census, I think, gave you 10,000.

I will say one word more, which I have may be the last which I may be called upon to say publicly concerning this question: I have sought no controversy with Manchester, and have not voluntered, even, in defence of the taxpayers of Richmond. I have nothing in my heart towards your people but the kindest feelings. If I have said that, in comparison with Richmond, you were a poor corporation.

omparison with Richmond, you were a soor corporation. I intended to cast no tigma upon your city. I meant it not as a reproach, or a thing that was dis-reditable. It is no shame to any one not to be rich.

"Proud deeds are more than coronets, And simple faith than Norman glood, 'Tis only noble to be good."

In all history no nobler people, no nation with a prouder record, can be found than the Swiss. They were the poorest people of Europe; but they were frugal, hardy, independent, and brave. On foot, with nothing but their pikes in their hands, they hurled back and put to rout the mailed squadrons of their wealthy. the mailed squadrons of their wealthy and splendid oppressors. Ever since they have by their valor, industry, temperance, and virtue, maintained their independence and commanded the respect and admiration of the world.

If Manchester is not rich, nevertheless, the has a record of which the man world.

she has a record of which she may well be proud. If she maintains her independ-ence she will command the respect and admiration of all mankind. Whatever she may do she will always have my best wishes for her success, growth, and prosperity. Very truly yours. prosperity. Very truly yours,
JAMES H. DOOLEY.

MOUNT VERNON REGENTS.

Many Valuable and Historic Gifts

Received Recently. The Board of Regents of the Mt. Verno Association on Friday elected Dr. J. M. Coner, of Washington, and Dr. James C larter, of New York, members of the Advisory Board of that organization, Mrs. ownsend, of the regents, presented her port, showing that the year past had sen a successful one. Reference was en a successful one. Reference wa ade in the meeting to the heavy los th of Mrs. J. Dundas Lippincott, late-e-regent for Pennsylvania. It was an nced that Mrs. Phoebe Hearst had nounced that Mrs. Phoebe Hearst had given a considerable sum to complete the redemption of the swamp land on the river front, which has been for a long time productive of malaria.

Mrs. Leiter, vice-regent for Illinois, made a very valuable gift to the regency, before leaving Washington, in the form of the original architectural plans of the interior of the mansion at Mt. Vernon. Among the gifts made to Mt. Vernon is gift bronze plate, to be used as a cen-re-piece in the State dining-room. This was the gift of Mrs. George Goldsborough, one of the most important additions in the way of relies that have been made to the version for many years is the old touch used by George Washington himcoach used by George Washington himself. This has been presented by General Bromfield, and was secured by him from a circus company, which has had it as one of the leading attractions of its street pageants for a number of years.

The regent has nominated and the council has confirmed the following new vice-regents: For Rhole Island, Mrs. William Ames: for Nebrasa, Mrs. Welvis. Clark. ion, and for New York, Miss Amy Town

You have made a statement, the pursone of which is to show that Richmond tas a deficit of $230,000, and ask me if it is correct. I think that it is incorrect. I th is, and will be paid for by proceeds of bonds.

If it were correct, it would simply conforce my position, that Richmond cannot afford to take the burthen of your expenses. I stated that he reflect was about $90,00. I believe that to be approximately right step in the first of increase her rate of taxation to $1.75 or the first of increase her rate of taxation to $1.75 or the first of increase her rate of taxation to $1.75 or the first of increase the rate of taxation to $1.75 or the first of increase the rate of taxation to $1.75 or the first of increase the rate of taxation to $1.75 or the first of increase the rate of taxation to $1.75 or the first of increase the rate of taxation to $1.75 or the first of increase the rate of taxation to $1.75 or the first of increase the rate of taxation to $1.75 or the first of increase the rate of taxation to $1.75 or the first of increase the rate of taxation to about $2.00 on the $1.00. You ask me further, if your statement were correct, would it not show that Richmond was financially in as bad condition as Manchester. I answer, No, Without wishing to disparage Manchester, I call your attention to the following facts:

By the last census Richmond had about times the last census Richmond had about the la percentage for long credits or any kind of credits at this, your storeall prices are absolutely on the closest cash basis. All persons keeping accounts with the house are accommodated on condition of prompt settlement within thirty days, thus low prices can keep faith with you and mutual satisfaction in good store-keeping be the result.
